SPLENDID PRESENTATION CHIMES OF NORMANDY

"Chimes of Normandy," light opera, presented at the Rex theater on Thursday and Tuesday evening, by the High School Choral Society assisted by local artists, under the direction of W. G. Moffatt, was an outstanding success. The theater was filled to capacity both evenings, and the audiences showed their appreciation by liberal applause.

The costumes and stage settings were brilliant and elaborate in fact perfect. All took their parts in a most creditable manner. The opera was carried through with professional smoothness. We venture to say that there are few towns of this size in Canada that could show an equal amount of talent or stage an opera as creditably.

Following were the characters of the opera:
Soprano, the Good-for-Nothing (soprano), Emil Murray.
Germanie, the Lost Marchioness (mezzo soprano), Mrs. Laurie.

Assessor, L'Assessor (tenor), Wm. J. Knight.

HOOV BREAD

In connection with our introduction of HOOV Bread, we give an explanation of this product:

This is a flour containing the germ of the wheat which is separated from the wheat-berry and partially cooked in super-heated steam before being put back into the flour, in such proportions as to give the right balance.

Bread made from flour containing a large percentage of the germ of the wheat will be rich in albuminoids, phosphoric acid and fats, and at the same time show a smaller percentage of starchy matters. It is claimed for HOOV Bread that it is easily digested and its use has been endorsed by prominent members of the medical profession of Great Britain.

64. The Height of Ocean Waves?

The average height of sea waves is 7 to 9 feet. They frequently reach 30 feet during severe storms. Any wave above 36 feet is called phenomenal. In January 1926, the winds on the North Atlantic for six days blew a hurricane (above 75 miles an hour); during this time the waves reached unusual heights—a lifeboat 50 feet above water level was swept from the Aquatana as she lay in New York harbor; an unexpected wave poured through a window of the Homerie 60 feet above water line. In sea like this, the very large ships by traveling in the trough of the waves are little affected, but it plays havoc with the smaller boats.

65. The World's Densest Populated Areas?

The United States has 33 inhabitants to the square mile; China, 219; Germany, 322; Japan (proper), 375; Holland, 542; Belgium, 652; Java, 675; England, 700. The U. S. embraces 6.5 per cent of the world's area, 7.6 per cent of its population; China, 7.5 per cent of area, 22.9 per cent of population; Japan, 0.5 per cent of area, 46 per cent of population; Netherlands, 16 per cent of area, 3 per cent of population; British Empire, 23.4 per cent of area, 25.1 per cent of population. If the entire population of the world were set down within the boundaries of the United States, the average density of population per square mile would be less than that now prevailing in England, where the density of population is 17 times greater than in the U. S.

66. What is the Hall of Fame?

The Hall of Fame for Great Americans stands on University Heights, New York City, on the grounds of New York University; erected from a gift from Mrs. E. J. Seward (Helen Gould). On the ground floor is a museum 200x40 feet, consisting of a corridor and six halls, to contain mention of the names inscribed above. The colonnade along the museum is 600 feet long, with provision for 150 panels, each about 26 1/2 feet, each panel to bear the name of a famous American. Fifty names will be inscribed on the tablets at the beginning and five additional names every fifth year until the year 2000, when the 150 inscriptions will be complete.

67. Who Can Be Elected?

Only those persons who shall have been dead 25 years or more are eligible to be chosen. Nominations may be made by the college; the selections are made by a committee composed of 100 eminent persons. The hall was dedicated May 30, 1901, when 25 of the tablets were unveiled. Chevrolet History, refinement and good taste are evident in the latest color combinations in the rich, luxurious upholstery—the handsome new radiator design—the massive full-curve fenders—the in-equally hardware—in the complete appointments.

As there is the quality of the thoroughbred in the appearance of the Most Beautiful Chevrolet in Chevrolet History, so there is the same quality in its performance. ## Carrying the Canadian Flag to World Ports

Upper left: The ship of exploration with the adventurous spirit of intrepid. Lower right: Large with the possibility of visiting the Pacific. The Empress of France, ship of anchor off the fashionable resort of Monaco. Upper right: The ship of the Pacific.

An evidence of the popularity of Canadian ships at home and abroad is the fact that the Empress of France, sailed from New York recently on her annual cruise of the Mediterranean basin for her cruise company. In all over 400 passengers were aboard for the two-months' voyage to many of the world's "high spots."

The cosmopolitan group of wanderers was composed of men from every branch of activity in North America. Some were habitual globe trotters, but in the main they represented the average successful citizen going abroad with the satisfaction of having achieved his life's great travel. Every province and state on the continent was represented.

According to recent statements by Walter Macdonald, the ship's manager, the Empress of France is the "four corners of the earth has come to stay. The traveler of the hour approves of the air-transportation by experience, and of going to the world's ports of call by sea.

From place to place under one management on ship and shore, the Empress of France is the most complete and most incident to foreign travel is worked out and seen to by the cruise managers and directors. The Empress of France has the best of the world's pleasures as he has never before.

After two consecutive years the Empress of France will next year break the trail for the new cruise to South Africa, now being arranged by the company. She will, in addition to touching many ports in the southern hemisphere, be ready to accommodate the tourist, sail once more, at the closing portions of the cruise, to the familiar ports of the U. S. West Coast.

Up to the present time, the Empress of France has shown to many the profitable methods of production and in many a few cases has helped the men next week to include an article from place to place under one management on ship and shore, the Empress of France is the most complete and most incident to foreign travel is worked out and seen to by the cruise managers and directors. That the movement has been recognized as worth-while has been amply demonstrated by many business men and leaders who have been giving their time without stint to direct the various club activities and also by the splendid support rendered by many of the leading business institutions in the different provinces.

CARD OF THANKS

May we, through the courtesy of your paper, express the appreciation of the principals and chorus of "The Chimes of Normandy," cast to those back of the production who did not, as we did, have the pleasure of winning the applause of the large audiences during the opera itself. The amount of real labor and earnest thought given to the building up of the production is not always evident on the outside of the performance shown to the public and we are anxious to record our thanks in this way to Mrs. Reinhold and Mrs. McLaughlin for the wonderful and very artistic way in which they designed the costumes and settings; to Mrs. J. R. Watt for the patience and money expended in training our noisy crew to such heights of efficiency in the dialogue; to Miss McWilliams who was ready to be "handy-man" to us on all our occasions; to Mr. W. J. McKenzie and his opera band; to Mrs. A. Amundsen for the very excellent way in which the stage settings and properties were prepared and operated; to Mrs. Chamberlin and Mr. J. R. Watt, the official "makers-up" to the singers and assistants on nights when the opera was laid, but certainly not least, to our general Director, Mr. W. G. Moffatt, who made all things possible and who bore the greatest load of all.

On behalf of the Players,
Henri de Cornville.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUB MOVEMENT

By W. M. Cockburn.

Much has been said and written in the past few years about interesting young farm people in various phases of farm work, but greater progress has been made in this direction through the organization of boys' and girls' clubs in Canada and United States than through any other medium. While these clubs have been organized in some provinces and states for the promotion of many different phases of farm and house work, in Alberta we have so far confined club work largely to calves and swine.

In the four years that this work has been carried on in Alberta, an increasing interest has been shown in the clubs by the various communities and a very marked improvement has been shown in the quality of hogs from these communities. But more important still is the new interest, hope and pride in farm life that is being shown by the boys and girls taking part in the activities of the clubs. The sense of responsibility of caring for animals, besides the opportunity to learn something about feeding and management, added to the financial experience gained by the club members, all tend to give the farmboys and girls a new outlook on life on the farm. Club work has shown to many the profitable methods of production and in many a few cases has helped the men next week to include an article from place to place under one management on ship and shore, the Empress of France is the most complete and most incident to foreign travel is worked out and seen to by the cruise managers and directors. ## WARNING RE FIREARMS

A number of boys under legal age have been seen lately hunting coppers with 22 rifles. As boys are often careless in the use of rifles, it would be well for parents to remember that minors under 16 years of age are forbidden by law to use firearms. Following is a copy of Section 119 of the Criminal Code:

Everyone is guilty of an offense and liable on summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding fifty dollars who sells any firearm or gives or sells such firearm or any ammunition therefor to any minor under the age of 16 years.

Smallpox is almost epidemic in Calgary and Edmonton at present. In Calgary 23 new cases were reported in the first 21 days of March. Similar reports come from Edmonton. Cases are reported from various towns and rural districts throughout the Dominion.

Air Supremacy

French Planes Are Challenge Too

The battle for world supremacy in aviation is being fought first with engineers and second with money and materials. French machines are the best performers in the world, holding the three world's records for speed, altitude and endurance. In a straight line, without detours, but Germany is building the best commercial planes. The German foundation for a commercial aviation industry has been so well laid that she is now admitted by the French to be the greatest commercial air power in the world, and some destined within the next few years to establish herself firmly in that position unless something happens to overturn the probabilities.

These are a few of the conclusions gained from observing the exhibits at the tenth Paris Aviation Salon and from considering the comments of experts. There seems little doubt but that this Salon will do more to help toward the development of fast military planes and more to the building of passenger and mail planes than appears that the history of the automobile is to be repeated. The high-speed, hand-built, exquisitely performing machines will be a Swiss watch, but which obtains those qualities at the expense of complication and high cost. It is to give way to the more rugged, safer and more economical machine. Germany has reached the change.

Competing for Passenger Trade

Germany Starts Construction of Two Large Ocean Liners

Since the war the largest and fastest ships of Germany's former merchant fleet have been plying in the transatlantic service of the German lines. With smaller, slower ships, Germany has been successful in recovering a substantial passenger business. Part of it has been in passenger between the United States and England, but Germany is handicapped in full transatlantic competition by the lack of ships of the class of the Leviathan, the Majestic, and the Olympic.

The announcement that the North German Lloyd has begun the construction of two 46,000-ton liners counts to Germany's desire to regain its position in the passenger service. The displacement of the German-built Leviathan is 26,527 tons. That of the Mauretania is 26,866. The Bremen and the Europa will not be completed for perhaps two years, but when they are ready they will have the advantage of developments in steam-power efficiency that will give them a speed of 26 knots an hour. That will compare with the Leviathan's speed of 27.67 knots an hour on a trial trip of twenty-five miles. With the Mauretania's translation record of an average of 26.52 knots an hour.

The Miles We Carry

All Wearing Apparel Contains Surprising Length of Thread

Statistics show that every inch of cloth contains about twenty-five threads running down length and the same number running across it, so that a square yard is composed of 1,850 threads, each a yard in length. The average suit or overcoat needs four square yards of cloth, so that every man or woman wears something the four miles of wool.

Allowing two sets of clothes a year, we find that each of us uses 400 miles of wool in five years.

When we come to linen or cotton goods, with eighty or 100 threads each way to the inch, the total length of thread becomes smaller. A shirt made of handkerchief size material, 2,400 strands each 15 inches long, so that 1,600 yards of cotton thread are required to make it.

A shirt represents about three miles of thread.

Advice for Motor Drivers

Extreme Caution is First Law of Common Sense

Keep your foot on the clutch during the first half of the start. If you do not, the car will lurch forward. If the traffic is great, keep your foot on the clutch. Don't take your foot off the clutch until you are in the street; glide over the bumps, thus saving your machinery; and don't forget your brake. Caution is the first law of good sense, when it has to do with 40-horse-power. Approaching an intersection, remember your clutch and brake.

Youths making driving tests. They are rapidly and easily, with fearless abandon and nonchalance, but they have an inkling of accidents because they don't think enough of clutch and brake. Oh, yes, there are dangers through confusion and through timidity; but they are not the disasters of the young driver. Nine-tenths of the wrecks come from going too fast.

A good driver will keep control of his machine at all times. He can do this without any shock. He can go slow, as he must when others might be endangered by his fast driving, but can step on the gas and leap forward when he sees his opportunity. The person who controls his power all the time is the one who has the control of his machine. He can handle traffic of life as flowing and momentary. The man who has learned is the one who knows, and the one who knows is the one who has experience. When one is in no position to take advantage it is not an opportunity. The power of the machine is the power of the metal power is the putting of hand and foot on the various controls of life.

Many lives are wrecked by even a momentary loss of control. It is quite the custom to blame some other person for the wreck of an automobile to be erected by the carelessness of some other man than the one in the driving it; and for a life to be lost by the carelessness of another, but it is exceedingly rare. When such a calamity occurs it is to one who has lost control of his machine, if but for a moment.

Keep your foot on the clutch!

Preferred to Lose Case

Street Trader Summoned for Selling Bad Eggs Refused to Eat One

When the Municipal Council first called to the bar as plain Mr. Rufus Isaacs, he was retained to defend a man, a street trader, who had been summoned for selling bad eggs.

Mr. Isaacs dwelt at length on the splendid quality of the fruit, and in his own mind was only natural, backed up by his client.

Presently the magistrate intervened. "Has either of you tasted the fruit?" he asked.

They both confessed that they had not. Whereupon the magistrate suggested that either the defendant or his counsel should eat some in court.

Mr. Isaacs turned to his client: "Do you wish to be whipped or not?" "What will happen if I don't?" whispered the other in reply.

"You'll be whipped," he replied.

"All right," answered the defendant resignedly, "then I'd rather lose the case."

French Making Unique Map

Covers Several Areas of Boy's School Near Paris

A map of the world covering several areas with real water for rivers and seas, miniature railroads and smoking volcanoes, is being laid out at a boy's school for Americans. Twenty miles west of Paris along the Seine. The cost is estimated at 1,500,000 francs.

This visualization of geography is intended to make study a pleasure, and it is on a par with other features of the institution, based in a class built for one of Napoleon's pupils.

Two continents are laid out in concrete with the topography indicated. The seas are deep enough for the pupils to ride by boat from one port to another. The railroad trains are drawn by steam engines.

Calendar Reform

Movement Still Under Way to Integrate 29-Day Month

Determined efforts to bring about a reform of the calendar with a 29-day month have been taken with the view of definite action at Geneva in August.

In 16 capitals of northern Europe steps already have been taken to show the advantage of the fixed calendar idea. There are opponents of the plan but no organized effort has yet appeared.

Under the proposed plan of reform all months would have 28 days, the first day of the month always falling on Sunday and the last on Saturday. If the year remained the same length an extra month would be introduced, leaving one day over and two in leap year.

Could Expect Nothing Else

Gold Cup Given as Prize by Kaiser Was Only Gift

With the failure of the ex-Kaiser so much in evidence and his meanness so emphasized by the German author of the latest book about him, the following fact vouched for by Lady Grosvenor, in her "Memories of Four Centuries," is another illustration of this character. Among the last words spoken by Kaiser Wilhelm to his grocer yesterday was: "I am sorry that I cannot give you more than 1250."

"He had won the German emperor's gold cup at Cannes. It was supposed to be worth £2500, but I was told that it was valued here at 1250 was discovered to be only gilt, and not worth more than £250."

TRAVEL BROADENS EDUCATION

The outlook of the average man is usually as broad as the world in which he lives. This being so, it is not surprising that more people are taking advantage of the summer months each year to travel as widely as their means will permit and to write this expenditure off against the two worthy aims "happiness" and "education."

In response to demands the Canadian National Railways organized a personally conducted tour of Western Canada to Europe last summer and this proved to be so successful that they have completed arrangements in connection with the Canadian Line, for a second annual tour this summer.

Yvon, Montreal this tour is an optional one of thirty-seven days or fifty-one days. Both tours will take the traveler through Scotland, England, Ireland, France and Switzerland. The longer tour will continue on into Italy and the principality of Monaco, the capital of which, Monte Carlo, and also to Nice and the Riviera.

Those making both tours will sail together from Montreal on the S.S. "Anjou" on July 16th, and will disembark at Glasgow on July 16th. From there they will continue to London, Edinburgh, Glasgow, the Treasury, then south to Leamington, Warwick, Stratford-on-Avon, and on to Oxford and London. Those

An Old French Superstition

Belief Held During Middle Ages That English Were Tall Race

It was in the month of January, 1525, that the English lost Calais, the name of which Queen Mary said would be found upon her heart. The capture by the French was due to the cowardice of the garrison and the mist of "Le General Jan" for the attacking troops were able to advance across the moorland dykes and slates which were relied upon as a defense.

A curious fact is associated with the English withdrawal from France; the natives feared at them as "the tall English." It appears to have been a belief, generally held during the Middle Ages by the enemies of England, that her people had at least the vestige of a tail. As late as the christening of James, who was to become king of the two realms, this superstition was remembered well enough to be a touching topic.

It is said that great offense was given to some English lords who were at the ceremony, by a company of natives, who, as they passed the place where the Scots were sitting, pretended that they had tails, having fast the motion of wagging them.

Where Living Costs Are Highest

An average family's daily needs of provisions, including meat, vegetables, bread, cereals, milk and butter, was the basis of an inquiry by the League of Nations Labor Office into the cost of living in the chief cities of the world. Lodz (Poland) was found to be the dearest, with 2-1/2 per cent Philadelphia was dearest with 2-1/2, and Sydney next with 2-1/2. London with 2-1/2 is eighth on the list.

There is at present a money shortage in L. caused by the demand for its use in the manufacture of widely varied articles, including loud speakers and silk hosiery.

The Value of Education

By Means of Education Crime is Perceptibly Decreasing

Total disregard for the rights of others is the chief cause of crime. One man need another with a roll of bills. Should he be stronger, or more probably, armed with a gun or black-jack, he uses it to advantage to enforce his will.

Entirely disregarding the other man's money, he takes possession, all too often with the additional crime of assault.

To read the assailant to punish rather than to punish the opportunity to do that kind of work, but changes in character effected are rather infrequent.

Most criminals remain criminals after they emerge from behind penitentiary bars.

So long as there are criminals abroad there is a grim necessity for prisons, although they do little more than suspend the activities of the particular rascal for the term of his imprisonment.

The little more they do consists largely of putting the fear of the law into the hearts of the others.

But the fact that every year produces less crime from an uneducated and lawless and lawless, as well as thieves and defrauders shows that too little is known about making them better.

Progress, however, is being made. Formal of history shows that the world has by no means as bad as formerly.

It is seldom today that bandits go into power and conduct nations as if they had been recruited as doing.

Generally speaking, the lives and property of decent people are more respected than they once were.

Education is doing this.

Gradually it is instilling into the human mind the ancient truth that honesty is the best policy.

The study of psychology is still in its infancy and it can be depended upon to do much in the future.

These transactions are conducted with persons of known shady business reputation, an incentive is given for those to continue such practices and this makes it increasingly difficult for established and reputable business concerns to maintain themselves in business.

Every encouragement given the undesirable trader is a blow at established honesty and an assistance to his unfair opponent to carry on his shady traffic.—Canadian Finance.

A Parliamentary "Whip"

Each Party Has Four Who Round Up Members When Necessary

The procedure was originally derived from the "whippers-in" of a hunt—men whose job it was to whip up lagging hounds and so to keep the pack together and obedient to orders.

In Parliament each of the great parties has its whip, actually four in number. These are especially appointed by the leader to "whip in" their fellow members of the party.

When a vote is to be taken, the whips will make every effort to see the attendance of all supporters of their side, even arranging the putting of the names of the absentees on anyone that abstains absolutely necessary. The word "whip" is also given to the notice sent out by the speaker for attendance being traditionally understood in accordance with the urgency of the vote, as many as four under-seconds having on occasion been used.

No Fee Coming

A Scot consulted a Harley Street doctor, who instantly diagnosed the trouble. He said to effect: "Well, you must have it off altogether. You understand? You must become a testator and leave the drink alone." The Scot, it pleased, was going to London. The doctor, the Scot said, "By the way, the fee for my advice is two guineas."

"What do you mean?" asked the Scot.

"I'm not taking your advice."

Alberta Livestock Export

Reports of livestock from Alberta for the year 1925 show a considerable increase over the year 1924, according to figures announced by the Provincial Department of Agriculture. In 1925 a total of 10,890 horses and 262,460 head of cattle were exported, compared with 10,100 horses and 240,600 head of cattle exported in 1924. The shipments went to other parts of the United States and Great Britain.

Management Of Bees In Spring

Expert Advice Is Given by Dominion Apiarist

Following are the pointers given by Mr. C. D. Goodwin, Dominion Apiarist, in Bulletin No. 74 of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Other sections of the bulletin are moved before pollen and nectar are available. The right time is when the weather is clear and the bees are outdoors wintered bees start bringing in new supplies. Shelter from cold wind is desirable.

Remove the covers the evening or early in the morning or on a dull day. Close the entrances when necessary to keep the bees from the filling is removed reduce the entrance to two inches.

Colonies may be examined on a warm day when the bees are flying freely. To those having less than twenty or twenty pounds of stores, feed them with sugar and honey saved from the previous year.

Don't equalize stores unless the apary is free from disease and never feed bees from an unclean source.

A good beekeeper seldom has to do any feeding in spring, sufficient having been stored in the fall.

Untie colonies that are queenless or have drone-producing queens to colonies having fertile queens.

Regular feeding queens at once. Weak queen-right colonies may be weakened by placing them over strong colonies. Queens may be changed between a few weeks, or may be strengthened by adding package bees.

Before first examination unit after a few days of favorable weather. If conditions and nectar is coming in freely.

Outdoor wintered bees can be examined in their colonies.

Does need large quantities of water in the spring. To prevent them having to go long distances for it supply the water in some sheltered spot in the apiary.

At the second examination, which will be made about May 2 or 3 weeks after the first, if the weather does not warm up rapidly and new nectar and pollen are not abundant, watch for brood diseases.

People Editors Appreciate

Those Who Voluntarily Will Give News for Publication

The duty of the average man to his newspaper is this: to send the publisher material that is "news." Many good items of news are lost to the newspapers by the modesty of the man who has to tell the reporter of matters concerning themselves. Not that they do not want to be published, but they are afraid they will be publishing themselves forward. This is the wrong idea. From the reporter's viewpoint, the man who writes the newspaper contributor on the street and inform him that he has been away to some other city, that he is going to get married, that he has a new girlfriend or friend or presented him with twins, is the best man alive. May his likes increase throughout the year. If you have done anything mean or disgraceful, it isn't necessary to tell it, for there are always plenty of people who will tell for you. It is the good things about yourself and your neighborhood that the newspaper wants you to give him.

It is the good things about yourself and your neighborhood that the newspaper wants you to give him.
